A: I am not sure I understood the question properly, but if it refers to the NewConfigurator component of TwinCAT, it should be working as expected.
The NewConfigurator.exe application starts with a splash screen in which you can supply some options. In case you have a list of specific devices, you can supply a configuration, which the application then proceeds to create. If you want to create a generic configuration, you can supply an arbitrary template that the New
