The book covers various topics in computer vision including how cameras work, how image processing works, and what kind of objects an image can be used to detect. The topics don't just exist in one book. Other good sources are the Stanford Vision Lab papers (although they only cover computer vision a bit) or the Computer Vision & Pattern Recognition books by Joseph Redmon, Sanket Saurabh, and Priya Ganapathi. (If you can find these books, they are easily the best books for this topic out there.)Q: is there any jquery plugin that supports multiple events? For example, it can meet my needs by user events: toggle.on('click', function () { if($(this).is(':checked')) { 6d1f23a050
