The Kaer Maga Dwarves are a bit of an unorthodox faction in the Dark Elves growinglanes of Might. They were introduced in Total War: WARHAMMER with the Dwarf faction and then had little to no impact in subsequent campaigns. Based on their own lore, they had grown jaded over the long years, retreating from their roots of mining in order to focus on a more scholarly and intellectual lifestyle. However, in Infinite Warfare, they are now in a position of radical weakness, having abandoned their mining economy for a reliance on blood magic and the lore of their Dark Elven tutors. The Kaer Maga are the elite troops of the Dark Elves who fight with a focus on close combat using heavy armour and weapon special skills. While most of their units would be considered ungimmicky and a distinct lack of a unique one, there are a few standout units in the form of the Bards and Arctisaurues. Arctisaurusses are powerful and capable melee units who can be used with their area of effect attack to clear the path and the poison damage they can inflict makes them especially dangerous when in large groups. Weve got a lot going on in this DLC, including the addition of the final chapters of our main campaign saga, the Tomb Kings. Be sure to grab the Immortal Empires 3 which unlocks the free content and all the DLC characters when it goes live. With the addition of the Chaos daemons we wanted to re-balance the Battle experience by increasing their vulnerability to characters with Vampiric Strike. To this end, weve increased the Vampire Strike damage penalty to -25% for Daemons, -50% for Greater Daemons and -75% for Greater Daemon Princes.

We've made changes to the UI that go into effect from Update 2.0 and onwards to help with command and control. In particular, using the new Organization panel will allow you to see and command any Vassals of yours without having to open your Units screen. The Organization panel, however, also opens up the ability to select/change Vassals to Garrison, Travel, etc. Simply click the row with the Vassals that you wish to change and click on the UI element next to it. Note: this only works when there are Vassals attached to your Unit. War Chariots are ranged vehicles that were never intended to be frontline units. However, against the likes of Blood Elves and Wood Elves, they are often overpowered and, thanks to their unique Abilities, they are often like holding a card up to the opponent. The Goblin Assault, or 'Assault Formations', are melee attacks that are very strong in Battle, and we're listening to their feedback to change their hit locations. As their Design is intended to be a new mechanic for the faction, we want to ensure that they are more reliable in gameplay as well. We have also increased the capacity and speed of the 'Backtrack' System. This is the system that allows a unit to move backwards, provided that they have not 'Run' (You'd be amazed how many common units do not have this ability). This has caused some problems for players and it is now much more difficult to pull off. Instead of moving and then having your unit back up to a position where your command unit can once again control them, the unit will now be placed back wherever they were before. 5ec8ef588b
