If you have to use the high-speed network drivers on your Tornado Pro with Mac OS X, you will need to have. 3)A full installation of those drivers (and updates) on a different PC via the PC's USB port. 4)A USB installation disk/folder with all the drivers (and updates). 5)A full installation of those drivers on a different PC via USB installation. 4. I can see that there is this new page added in the bios setup menu 5. To fix that you should check the correct bios version of the Tornado Pro (The latest one should be.01f. Hey there, a couple of months ago I uploaded this video: like you said I was looking for the spider microscope driver. I was able to get it running although the pictures were kind of grainy. I've been trying to find a copy of this driver but haven't. Anyway, I'm trying to find a driver that will allow me to get a better scan.. Hello, I have a Samsung ML-3005 Digital microscope device. I need the super scan software for the Device. I have but it doesn't have drivers for the windows version of 10. What drivers can I download, so that I can install it? Thank you for your attention. Best regards, Julio i am trying to run tornado pro on windows 8.1 that is what i am using.. i am unable to run it. it is showing "loading the raw data" yet to complete but i am running the cd now. is there a different driver that i need to install... please help.. thanks. drpaul8 Can't find the right driver for my Tornado Pro 730 or 830. The manual says nothing about drivers. I think i found a pdf manual on geve, but have no idea what it's for. It's for the Tornado Pro 830 with a USB to Ethernet dongle. I bought the Tornado pro microscope about 6 months ago to connect to our Apple network. It worked well, until we went on to the new machine, which is using Windows 7. Now I get the message "USB network controller not found". Has anyone experienced this and, if so, can you tell me what I need 04aeff104c
